PSB Academy and The University of Nottingham (PSB-NU) Celebrates 10-Year Partnership at Graduation Ceremony 2009

PSB Academy celebrates 10 years of partnership with the University of Nottingham at the Graduation Ceremony 2009 of 32 Masters of Business Administration (MBA) students. On the same day, the two institutions will also renew their commitment to continue with this strong partnership.

Degrees will be conferred on the graduands by Professor Fujia Yang, Chancellor of The University of Nottingham (NU) at the Presentation ceremony. An alumnus from the first batch of graduates is invited to speak at the ceremony to mark the 10-year milestone of the partnership. Other representatives from the university include Professor David Greenaway – Vice-Chancellor of The University of Nottingham.

PSB Academy and The University of Nottingham started offering the Master of Business Administration programme in 1999. This is also the very first degree programme introduced by PSB Academy. Each year, the institution sees a constant stream of students apply for the programme. In 2002, the partnership expanded with the launch of the Financial MBA programme. To date, both programmes have seen more than 250 graduates in Singapore.

Members of media are invited to attend the ceremony. Interviews with PSB Academy's staff and students can be arranged.
